

Charles

Charles
Well, Theres a lot to be said, First of all you are a nut
I think Mrs Berry and Mrs Fisher fear you the most. Thanks a lot for "staying up nights" HA! HA!
me to call and ask for an English or abg. or French or something. Its been fun. Hope I see you next year.
Your Friend
Sammy

Reverend Mr. Hg, you still have my wooden ring, but I dont guess I'll cry- It turned my mind brown anyway. Yeah, brown. I think it was you who got my ring! I sure do thank you for all the you com pretend! I sure do thank you for all the chewing gum you've given me over the years. Where've you been hidin' your brother all this time?? Come to think of it, where've you been? Just kiddin'!

Charles,

you are a great kid! I've enjoyed knowing you these past years. I am glad you were in my Eng II class. You always were laughing or making some silly remark or something. It was funny as all the way you'd just burst out laughing for no reason at all! Then I'd just about die laughing because of you.

You probably want me to tell you how much I love you and what a sweet, nice person everyone thinks you are well, they do. You have a wild sense of humor, just like I do and I'm proud to say that (I hope) I'm one of your friends!

I could name a lot of times when we've had a blast together!

I'll never forget the way you ~~at~~ almost ran Mrs. Bury out of her mind. I feel so sorry for that woman having all of us for 1st period study hall. Not to mention Mrs. Fisher for our 6th period English class.

Any class with you and I together in it is bound to be lively.

God Bless you through the summer of which I hope to see you and also Next yr.

From the greatest,
Frances

We Dedicate With Pride

As Sophomore class sponsor, Mrs. Pollard gives individual attention to every student.

A person who awakens our minds, stirs our imagination, and encourages our love of learning.

A person who raises her voice in anger, but only because of enthusiasm or concern.

A person for whom teaching is not merely a profession, but a way of life.

As Blue Notes sponsor, Mrs. Pollard explains the essentials of a school paper to Carol Allers and Lynne Younger.

With characteristic pose and smile, Mrs. Pollard manages to keep class interesting.

A person who understands us because she takes time to ask what we believe, what we think, and what we are searching for.

With deepest gratitude, we dedicate the 1966 Laurel to

MRS. MARIAN POLLARD

Third period each day, Mrs. Pollard enjoys her usual, and quite notorious, cup of coffee.

Principal Mr. F. B. Williams keeps the school running smoothly throughout the school year.

Administrators

Sooner or later almost every one comes to the office for help from Mrs. Wheeler, secretary, or Mrs. Creech, treasurer.

Mr. Fred Smith, superintendent of the Wake County Schools.

The Advisory Council members are Caswell Strickland, George Bowie, Tom Byrum, C. P. Dobbins, and George Lortz.

Co-ordinate School Activity

Mr. Williams, along with his many other duties, finds time to counsel Becky Anthony.

Assistant Principal Roland Cobb keeps his smile as he copes with the problems that pop up in a school day.

Students relax on the grass after lunch.

Opportunities Broaden Scope;

"What's that?" Students often find Mrs. Curtis' study hall to be quite interesting.

Time before school and after lunch provides an opportunity for students to relax and socialize, while the library and study hall provide an incentive for initiative.

This is a year of continuing growth for the library. Many new and donated books have been received, and the magazines have been arranged in coherent order in the library's new Princeton files. They now provide a quick and easy source of reference. Millbrook has pioneered the record collection, being the first school in the county to begin one. As a result, the record room is always in use, a favorite target for study hall students. Students with earphones listen to the strains of Beethoven and, more often, Peter, Paul, and Mary. Meanwhile, other students check out books and magazines or work on research papers.

Mrs. Dalton, librarian, aids Gail Bartholomew with her work in the library.

Enhance Interest

Study hall provides a similar opportunity as the library, but it doesn't seem to be quite so popular. Students study unfinished assignments, start whispered gossip, and sometimes play practical pranks behind the teacher's back.

The library provides a quiet, restful atmosphere for study.

Serving the School in

Mrs. Council, new lunchroom supervisor, is beginning to put into effect many ideas for the improvement of the school lunchroom.

A sight familiar to all students is the window in the lunchroom where empty trays are deposited.

The cafeteria workers are: Mildred Averett, Clela Hildebrand, Bethel Penny, Helen Arrington, Alma Jones, Ethel Leggett, Ruby Alan, Lessie Robinson, and Mrs. Frances Council, supervisor.

Various Capacities

*Charlie, Thank you for all the wonderful times.
Lessie **

Mr. Winborne, Millbrook's mailman, performs an invaluable service to the school.

Keeping the school clean is no easy task, but custodians Gus Williams, Laura Richardson, Lessie Finch, Zella Walker, and Archie Robinson do a wonderful job.

Brightening the school with his smile, Gus cuts the grass near Mr. Farthing's trailer.

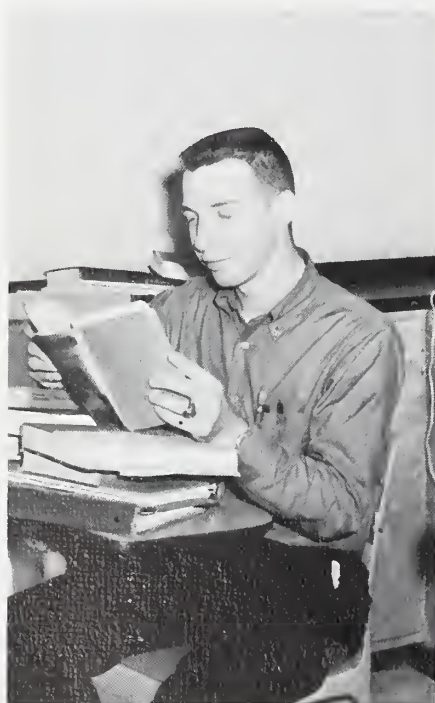

The office assistants are: Donna Duty, Joy Dell'Erba, Pat Denton, John Muster, Ann Sykes, and Becky Anthony.

The 1965 Marshals were: Terry Creech; Teddie Parrish; Head Marshal; Coleen Holden; Eddie Alderman; Donna Duty; Colon Terrell; Joe Flythe; Larry Hicks; Jay Harward; and Jimmy Hunt.

Jimmy Hunt qualified as a semi-finalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition.

David Berry, Colon Terrell, and Jimmy Hunt were representatives to Boy's State held at Wake Forest College.

Teens Boast Varied Honors

Teddie Parrish listens to French tape at Salem College where she attended Governor's School.

Julian Riddle and Larry Hicks attended the Student Council Workshop held at Mars Hill.

Ricky Barbour, Colon Terrell, and Don Sigmon attended the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Black Mountain.

Tri-captain Colon Terrell gives Queen Pat Denton a congratulatory kiss.

Homecoming Sparks School Spirit

The long-awaited 1965 Homecoming came to Millbrook on November 12 as the Wildcats played host to Wake Forest's Red Devils. Lady Luck rode not with the 'Cats. Time and again the Wildcats drove deep into Wake Forest territory only to be halted. At the half Millbrook was trailing, 7 to 13. Despite a tremendous performance by Millbrook, Wake Forest managed to penetrate the Wildcat defense, resulting in three quick touchdowns and a victory for the visitors.

Earlier in the week, nine lovely young ladies had been selected to represent Millbrook's student body. At halftime, the climax of the evening arrived. The crown, accompanied by a bouquet and kisses from the football tri-captains, was placed on the head of Pat Denton.

Senior Attendants: Coleen Holden and Nancy Jessee.

Freshman Attendants: Diana Dell'Erba and Betty Hatcher.

Sophomore Attendants: Connie O'Hair and Vickie Perry.

Junior Attendants: Barbara Brown and Carolyn Marks.

Pat Denton reigned as Homecoming Queen, 1965.

Assemblies Unify Student Body

Larry Hicks, president of the student body, presides over the assemblies.

Walking proudly, the senior class takes the unforgettable march down the aisle during assembly.

Black-out curtains cover the windows as students watch a film during assembly.

Curriculum

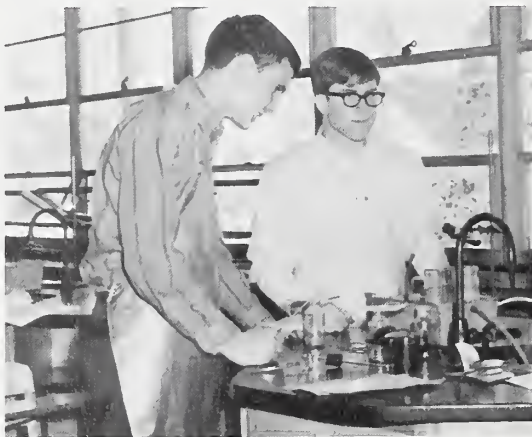

Future Scientists Exciting

Jay Harward and Don Sigmon make use of the over-head projector during a physics class.

Julian Riddle and Charles Gower conquer the chemistry lab with Bunsen burner and test tube.

Gary Jewell and Dan McAuliffe inhale a fresh batch of oxygen in chemistry lab.

Surrounded by the tools of his trade, Mr. Pleasants teaches a physical science class.

Explore New and Horizons

Mr. Harrell's sophomores are engrossed in their study of biology during lab period.

Mrs. Harbison's power of concentration may have an effect on the accuracy of the balance scales.

In coaching and teaching biology, Mr. Harrell faces a challenging combination.

"No, Bobby, this lever doesn't automatically erase your mistakes," explains Mrs. Reese to Bobby Walkup and Ricky Barbour.

Donna Bailey and Gloria Fulcher prepare a bulletin board in Mrs. Berry's room for D. E.

After lunch students find the typing room is a good place to practice typing and to catch up on homework.

to Prepared Students

Teaching two other subjects besides business math, Mrs. Curtis is ready for the bell after a full day.

Keeping a list of eligible workers and job openings is a vital function to Mrs. Berry in teaching D. E.

Distributive education students hurry to their cars on the way to work.

Mathematical Concepts Broaden

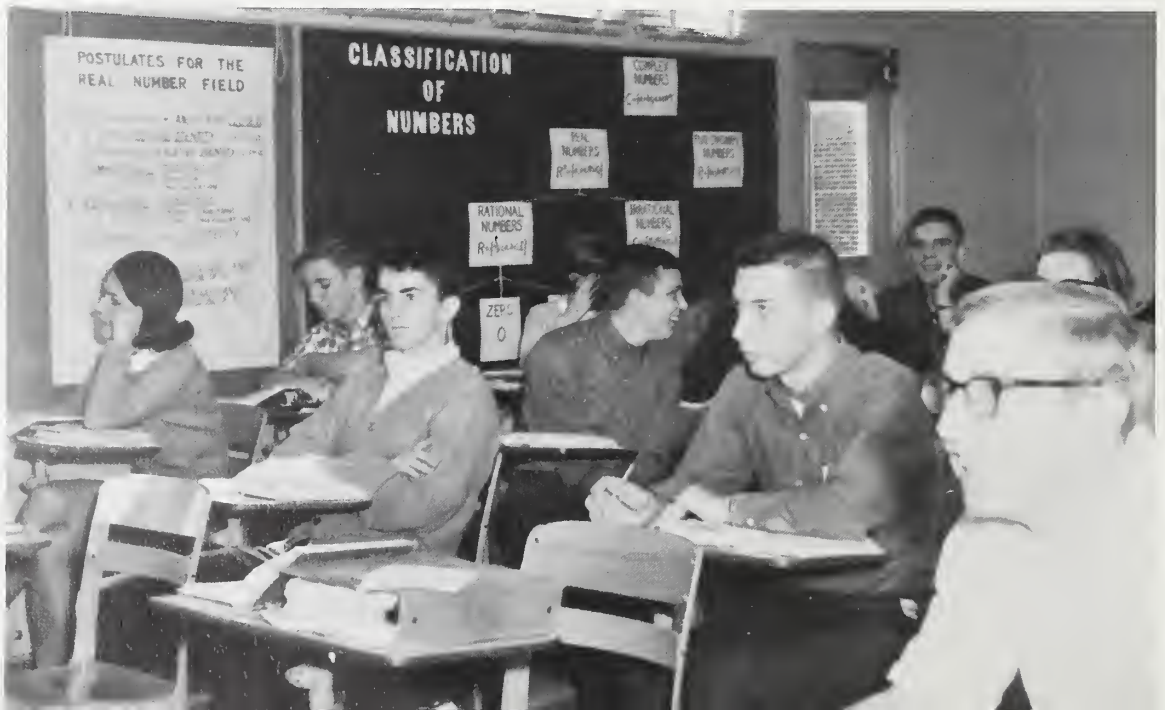

Buck Pace and Barbara Young find the slide rule more elusive than it looks.

Miss Pate seems to be waiting for the answer to hit her. Actually she knows the answer but she is hoping one of her algebra students will know.

Advanced math keeps seniors on their toes.

Academic Scopes

Mrs. Fisher draws solids to explain certain principles in math class.

Study? Glenn Musser, Donna Bailey, and Jerry Harwell find that studying math is always easier outside.

When the lunch bell rings Mr. Farthing is the first one out the door, but he is followed closely by Phil Thomas and Lamar Jones.

Student Skills Improved Through Vocational Instruction

"I'm trying not to laugh, Wanda, but that zipper is sewed in backwards," says Mrs. Pendleton to Wanda Muster.

Donna Henderson, Ellen Waddail, and Sue Dalton enjoy looking through a pattern book in the home ec living room.

During a home ec class, Betsy Mills shows her handiwork on the machine to Ellen Waddail.

Mr. Winborne supervises closely John Muster's welding as he shows the techniques to Jerry Gunter and Wayne Averett.

Mr. Winborne shows Dave Calloway the answers he has missed on an agriculture test.

Mastering Native and Foreign

Surrounded by a freshman English class, Mrs. Thomas is right at home among her students.

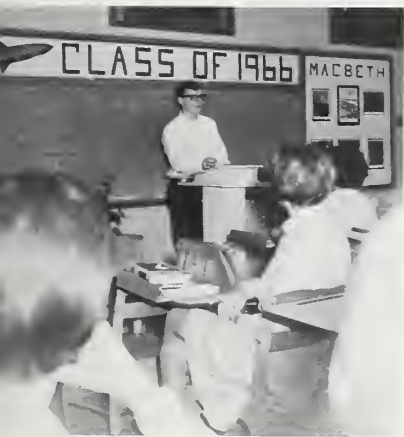

Mrs. Pollard stands at her door trying to convince students that English isn't really so bad.

Mrs. Fisher makes sure Mike Ellis learns the fundamentals of writing by asking him to read his theme.

Languages

While giving a book report, Eddie Alderman captures the unfaltering attention of the class.

Shakespeare, one of Mrs. Seago's favorite subjects in English literature, is emphasized strongly to her senior English classes.

Mrs. Haywood discusses with Lee Hunt the advantages of learning French.

In addition to civics, Mrs. Fisher also teaches freshman and sophomore English.

History students watch a broadcast on television as part of their daily studies.

Joe Ferrell finds world geography a breeze with the help of Mr. Harrell.

Social Sciences Changing

Don Sigmon's lightning fast arm hits the air!

Randy Lee finds that getting the wrong book doesn't help when you're late for civics.

"And any other answer is wrong," says Mr. Cobb in regard to grading a history test.

Mrs. Curtis' economics and sociology class has just finished viewing a film and each one offers his impressions.

Yield Clues to a World

Mr. Pleasants lectures to a civics class.

And they're off! The bell rings ending U.S. History and students scurry to second period.

Social Sciences, Cont.

Mr. Williams projects a better understanding of civics to his class.

Mrs. Thomas presents an effective talk in government as Susan Honeycutt casts an attentive glance.

Sociology students find they can express themselves more freely in an informal group discussion.

Smiling slyly, Mrs. Curtis finishes running off another sociology test.

Physical education develops mind and body, and these freshman students prove it.

A Modern-Day Essential — Physical Fitness

Studies in health complete a well-rounded program.

"Okay, boys, let's see you move a little bit," says Coach Williams as he begins a physical education class.

Numerous Activities Complement Guidance

Guidance helpers Rita Paynter and Deborah Hux keep the guidance bulletin board up-to-date.

Mrs. Johnston consults with Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Pol-lard to formulate better techniques in advising students.

Eddie Alderman, Joe Flythe, and Pat Denton look over literature to help them decide on a college choice.

PAUL G. ADAMS

In Appreciation . . .

The Laurel Staff of 1966 wishes to convey its deep appreciation to the many people who have made this yearbook possible...

To our patrons who were thoughtful enough to buy advertisements, without whom this book could not have been produced.

To Mrs. Haywood, to whom we can find no adequate words to express our indebtedness for all her patient guidance and suggestions.

To the faculty, who we hope realize that through their unfailing patience with classroom interruptions and their understanding our work has been made much easier.

Last, but certainly not least, to all students who gave their time to sell advertisements and to publish the 1966 Laurel.

The Editors

Charles,

I have really enjoyed knowing you this year. We've had some fun in Alg. I haven't we? Even if every five minutes you had to say something about Sandra (knot head), I remember taking you and Sandra to the "Y" you two sure made a cute couple. Then there was that Sat. nite I went and pick you up and you came over to the house and stayed with Sandra and Benny. You were so scared Daddy and Mother were coming home before you left. Then Jean got all of you so scared and and you made me look the car doors on the way to your house. All in all we've had a pretty good year having me? I hope we can have just as much fun next year.

One day a hush will fall,
The footsteps of us all,
Will echo down the hall
and disappear . . .

May God Bless and
Keep you just as you are. (Sweet)

Always

The End

Linda B.

Charles-Sweetheart!

It's been wonderful knowing you this past year! We've had a lot a fun at school esp. in French! If you were two or three years older - I'd fall in love with you but as it is I'm too old for you! I was sorry to hear about you & Sandra 'cause I thought you two were awfully cute together. Just remember - that's life and before you get much older you'll probably fall for some other girl! Stay as sweet and as good-looking as you are and you won't have any girl problems. If it's any help - remember I still love you!

Best of Luck, Always,

Love ya,
Jane

P.S) Remember the times I'd come to Clem's & your bus stop in the morning. Also all the cigarettes you bring from me! (That still doesn't look right!)
Be sweet always!
